To whom it may concern:

This letter is in support for the Dungeness Streamflow Restoration and Off-Channel Reservoir Project.

This has been a coordinated project with a many local partners including the City of Sequim, Clallam County, Jamestown S'Klallam Tribe, WA Dept. of Ecology, WA Dept. of Natural Resources, WA Dept. of Fish and Wildlife, Washington Water Trust and the Clallam Conservation District.

This project has numerous public benefits. It restores habitat for the several species of endangered salmon that run in the Dungeness by preserving critical instream flows. It will help manage stormwater impacting City of Sequim. It will provide climate resiliency that will benefit and support our agricultural community, and finally it creates a new county park that includes public water access.

We hope that you will consider our support when selecting grant recipients.

Sincerely,
